Chapter I: Prisoners in an Age of Abundance

We, as witnesses to human civilization in this era, painfully observe a profound paradox:

Human technology and productive capacity—especially artificial intelligence and automation—have advanced to an unprecedented level. In material terms, humanity already possesses the capacity to enable all people to live in abundance and to leave scarcity behind.

Yet reality remains harsh. Because of the greed of a small minority, the rigidity of old political structures, and the centralized monopoly of power, the benefits of resources and technological progress are locked away in the hands of very few. In this digital age, which ought to be an age of freedom, most people still remain trapped in conditions of domination, subordination, and exploitation.

Even more unacceptable is that AI, a technology that should liberate human hands, has under the old distribution system become a source of “fear of unemployment” and “anxiety about survival.”

We cannot help but ask: if technology is already capable of supporting everyone, why must we still spend our lives, as people did thousands of years ago, merely struggling to “stay alive”?

We believe that when a system cannot transform the benefits of technological progress into human freedom, and instead leaves people struggling for subsistence in the midst of abundance, that system has failed morally.

The root of dictatorship is the monopoly of power; the instrument of authoritarianism is the black box; the essence of privilege is rent-seeking; and the prison of class is dependence.

Chapter II: Break and Reconstruction

In light of the irreconcilable contradictions described above, we solemnly declare:

We choose, in spirit, to break with the decaying rules of the old world. We no longer seek to repair a machine already covered in rust. We choose instead to rewrite the operating system of human civilization—an OS-Level Rebuild.

The DAADR we seek to build—the Decentralized AI Autonomous Democratic Republic—is not a state in the traditional sense, but an autonomous pilot zone: the first in human history to be rooted in decentralized governance, to take code as its constitution, AI as its public servant, and freedom as its ultimate purpose.

We hereby establish the fundamental mission and vision of this new civilization:

Mission:

Through decentralized, AI-assisted self-governance, to rebuild a new world without dictatorship, corruption, privilege, or fear, and to eliminate the soil from which dictatorship, authoritarianism, and privilege arise.

Vision:

To bring to an end the history of “people working merely to survive,” and to begin a new era in which “people innovate for their dreams.”

—Not merely to eliminate poverty, but to drive a fundamental transformation in the meaning of human life.

Chapter III: The Founding Covenant of a New World — Eight Unshakable Foundations (Core Values)

In DAADR, we establish the following eight unshakable foundations as the core values and “source code” of our new civilization:

1. Let Go of the Past, Face the Future

Let history serve as a reference rather than a chain. Eliminate racial and historical hatred, and reduce confrontation through global consensus.

2. Move Beyond Traditional Culture, Embrace Modern Civilization

We build a digital covenant on universal values such as democracy, freedom, equality, and human rights, breaking away from feudal rigidity. Through AI-driven education, we cultivate citizens with a global outlook who embrace modern civilization.

3. Freedom and Democracy — Prevent Authoritarian Rule

No individual, organization, or centralized power may stand above the freedom of citizens. Every form of dictatorship, authoritarianism, privilege, and tyranny shall be prohibited by code.

4. Equality and Inclusion — Reject Privilege

Regardless of gender, belief, race, or background, citizens shall enjoy equal rights and opportunities. Every form of privileged class shall be rejected.

5. Transparency and Justice — Guard Against Tyranny

Governance shall be fully open, transparent, auditable, and traceable. Blockchain-based traceability shall work together with AI-assisted fairness. Tyranny depends on black boxes and deception; we rely on transparency and verification. Here, there shall be no secret rule—only open governance—so that tyranny has nowhere to hide in the light.

6. Decentralized AI-Assisted Self-Governance — Remove the Roots of Dictatorship

We use decentralization to break the monopoly of power. Built on decentralized architecture and blockchain-based shared platforms, DAADR seeks to dismantle centralized monopolies of power and safeguard democratic self-governance, separation of powers, and checks and balances. This is DAADR’s fundamental remedy.

7. Universal Basic Income (UBI) — Eliminate Dependency

In the age of AI automation, we use Token Staking and AI-based allocation to return the wealth created by machines unconditionally to every citizen, secure a basic standard of living, and free citizens from dependence on ruling classes. Here there is no ruler’s charity—only rights that belong to citizens. Let us truly move from “struggling for subsistence” to “striving for innovation and dreams.”

8. Continuous Innovation — Resist Institutional Rigidity

Our system is alive. With human well-being at its center, it shall continuously iterate through consensus, never becoming rigid and never sliding into corruption. Rigid institutions are especially vulnerable to authoritarianism and tyranny; we use AI to help drive institutional evolution so that freedom and fairness never retreat.

Chapter IV: To the Citizens of the Future

Wherever you are, whatever your race;

If you are tired of the selfishness, intrigue, dictatorship, authoritarianism, and privilege of traditional politics and political parties;

If you believe your life is meant for creation, not merely survival, and you do not want to spend every day struggling only to make a living;

If you long to pursue even the most seemingly impossible dreams freely in a world without dictatorship, privilege, or entrenched class divisions;

DAADR is your spiritual homeland.

Here, no bloody revolution is required; we transcend by building autonomous zones of consensus.

Here, all technological progress serves only one purpose: to liberate you, so that you can become the person you truly wish to be.

We do not seek merely to reform the old order. We seek to uproot the soil of dictatorship, authoritarianism, and privilege. That soil is centralized power; the remedy is decentralized AI-assisted self-governance.

Through decentralization, we make dictatorship impossible to compile; through AI and blockchain, we make privilege unable to operate behind a black box; through UBI, we enable citizens to live without dependence on any class or powerful elite.

Come, join us.

Let us build, upon the ruins of the old age, a staircase of code leading toward the stars.

Let us tell the future: in this era, humanity did not choose to sink. We chose to rise.

Provisional Committee of the Decentralized AI Autonomous Democratic Republic (Pilot Zone)

For a new world without dictatorship, corruption, privilege, or entrenched class divisions—a world in which everyone may live for their dreams.
